The Finish Line

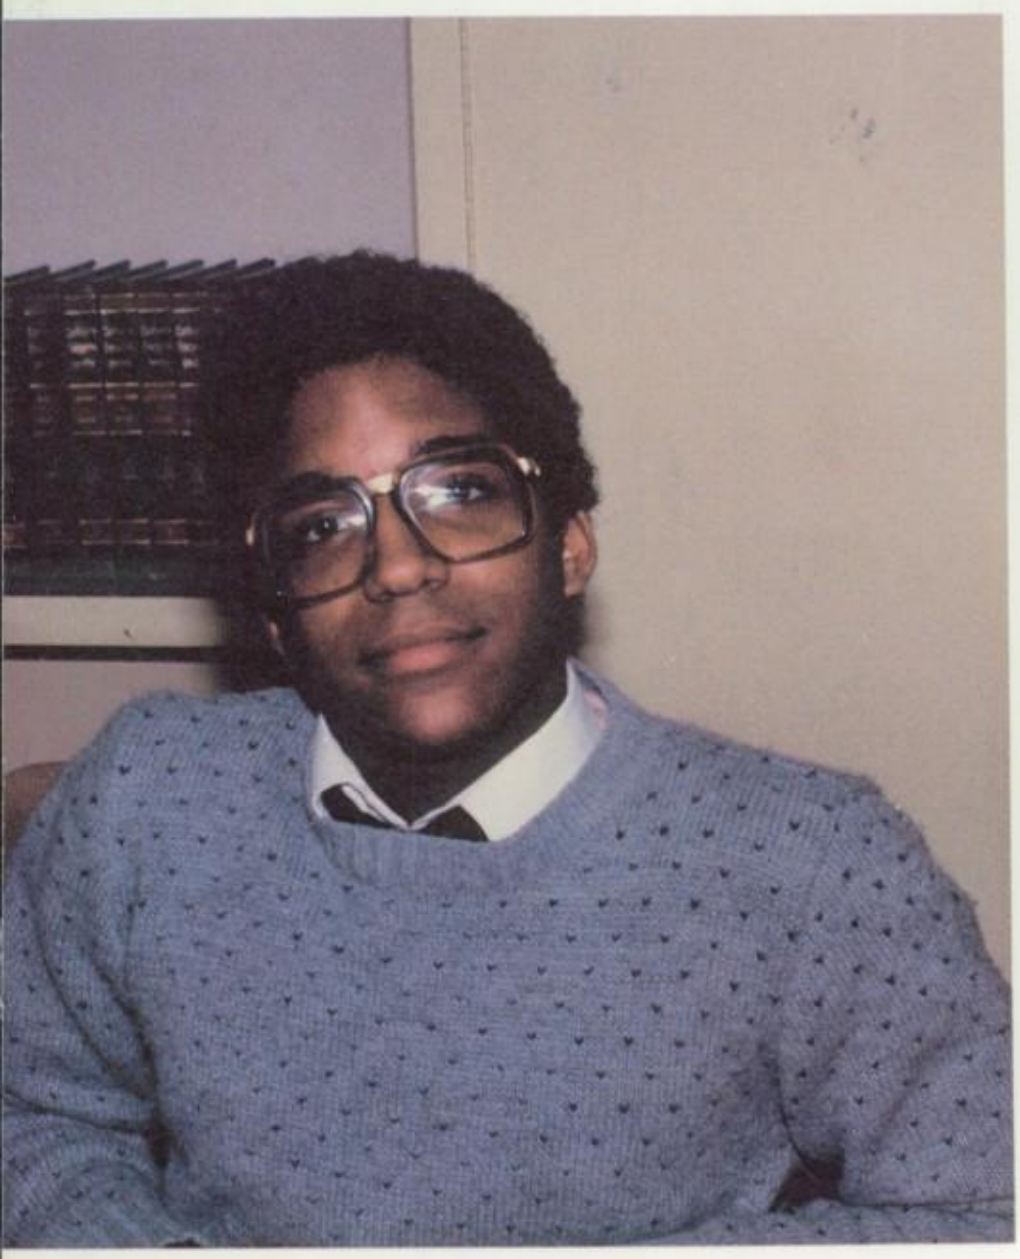
Freshmen Start
Seniors Finish

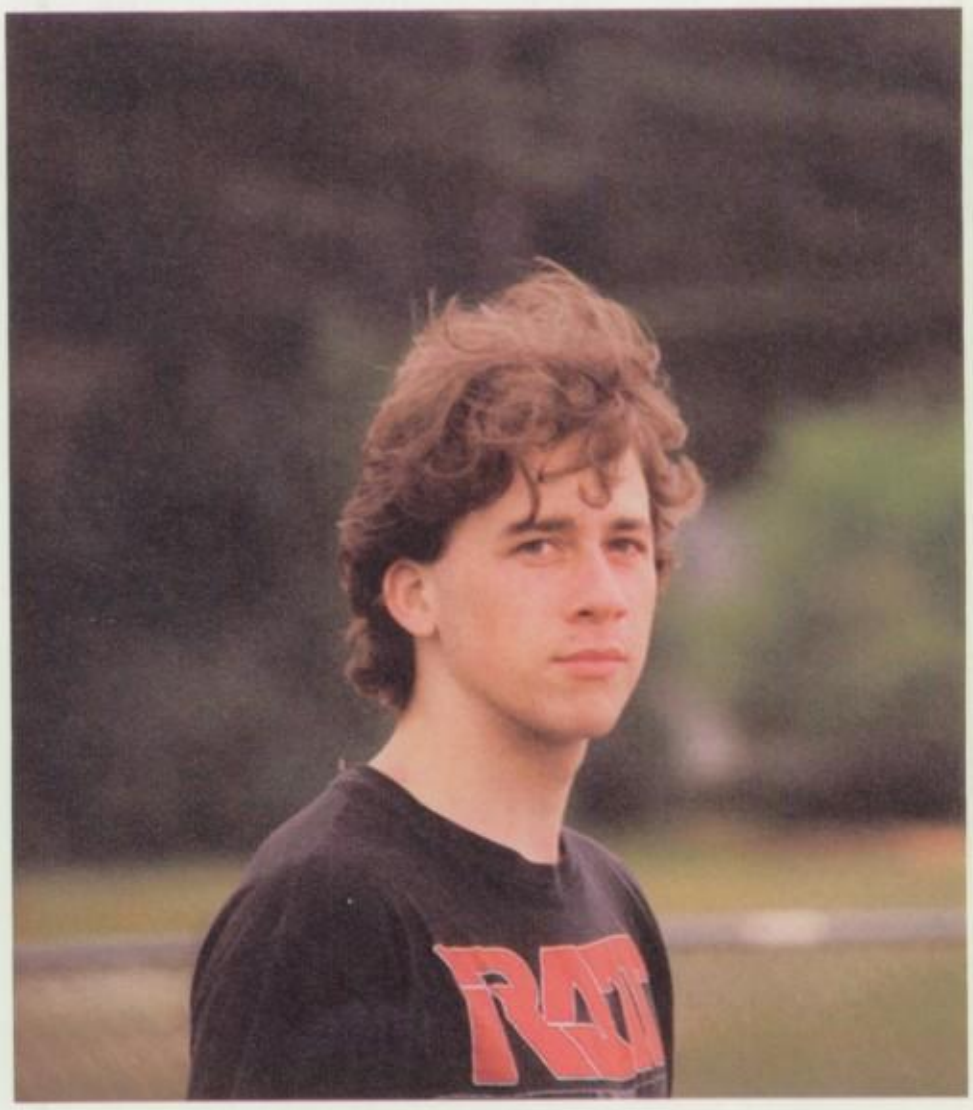
It was inevitable. It was our turn to receive the torch. Our leg of the relay race had begun. It was September 1, 1987, when we arrived for the first day of our most important training sessions.

Awaiting us was the welcoming atmosphere of Brady. We met in the cafeteria to begin our intellectual, spiritual, and physical race. We were relieved to be back among such familiar faces for our senior year. We greeted the new members of our team and renewed friendships with returning members.

Already we were planning our strategies. Some of us would decide to apply to competitive colleges, participate in senior service, and join theater workshop. Others would become peer counselors, Student Council representatives, and field hockey players.

Whatever choices we made for our individual training programs, we worked together to prepare for the big team race leading to our finish line--Graduation 1988.





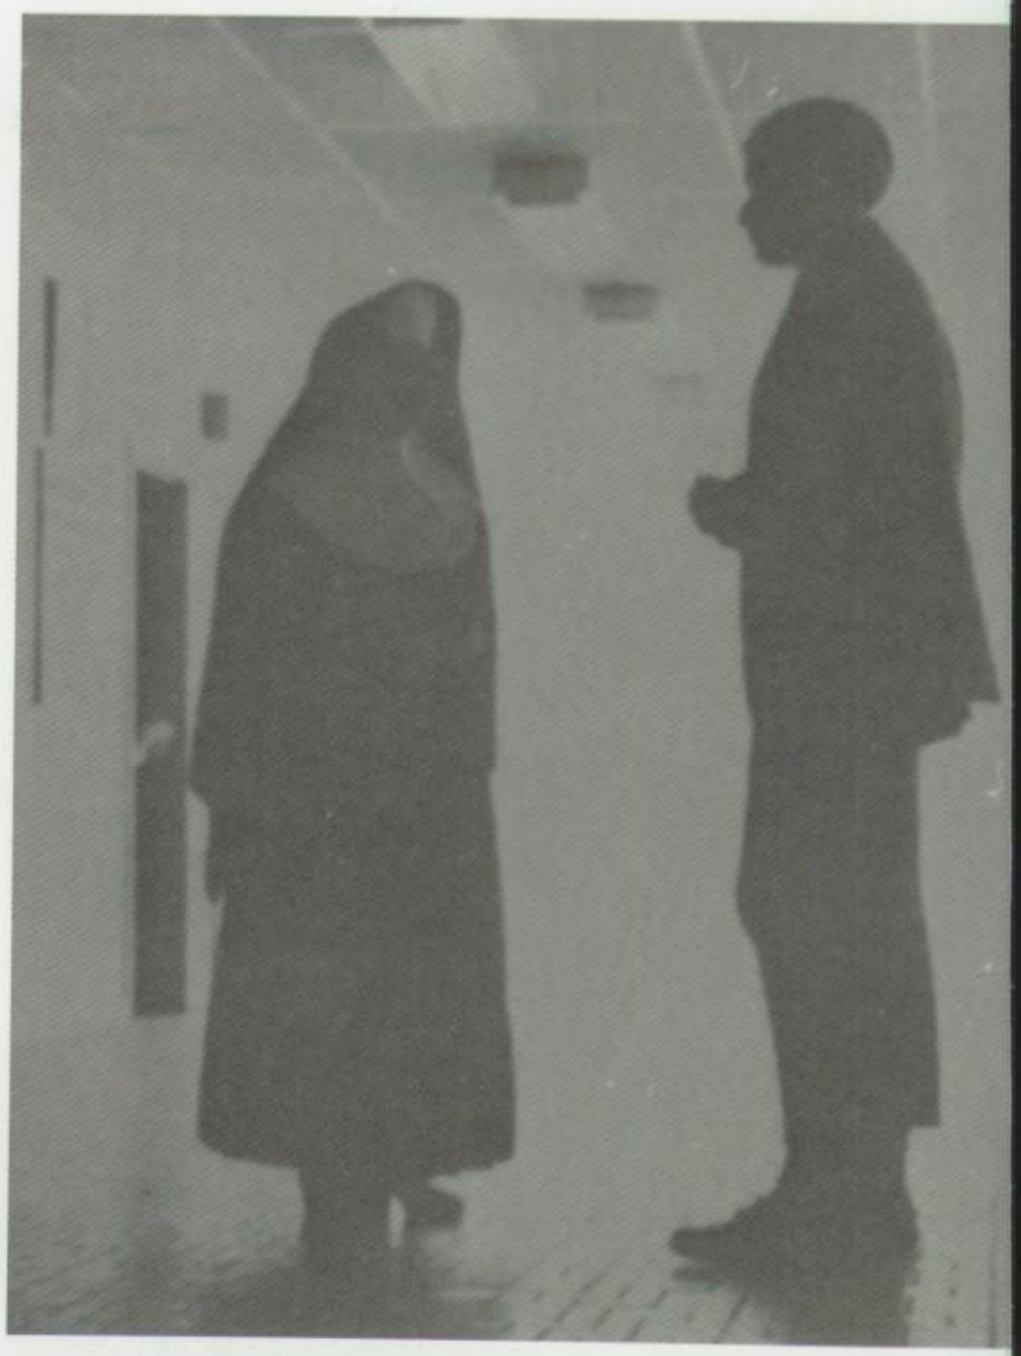
first sight of . . . .

The Finish Line

It was September 4, 1963, and Bishop Brady High School, dedicated to the memory of the Most Reverend Matthew F. Brady D.D., former Bishop of Manchester, opened its doors to three hundred thirty students. Concord now had a Regional Roman Catholic High School. The Race had begun!

As the student body carefully found its way around the newly constructed building, avoiding the still unfinished gym and cafeteria there were mixed emotions. The underclassmen were excited in the shiny new school but the fifty-two seniors felt displaced and longed for their beloved St.John's.

Change came hard to the class of 1964 but like it or not the journey had started and they were part of it. Bishop Brady had begun a race - a race with a vision but no earthly finish line. Dedicated to the intellectual and spiritual training of young people, Brady's race would continue forever as one class ran it and passed the torch to the next.



25th Anniversary

In the last twenty-five years over twenty-two hundred young men and women have passed through the halls of Bishop Brady High School and contributed to the growth of a community. They were History Club members and theatre performers. They served on newspaper staffs and worked on yearbooks. They went to proms or sometimes longed to. They assisted in liturgy celebrations and planned nursing home parties. Sometimes they laughed and sometimes they cried. They played on teams and they cheered teams on.

Sometimes they were friends and other times they were in need of friendships. Through it all Bishop Brady High School grew and its story went on.....

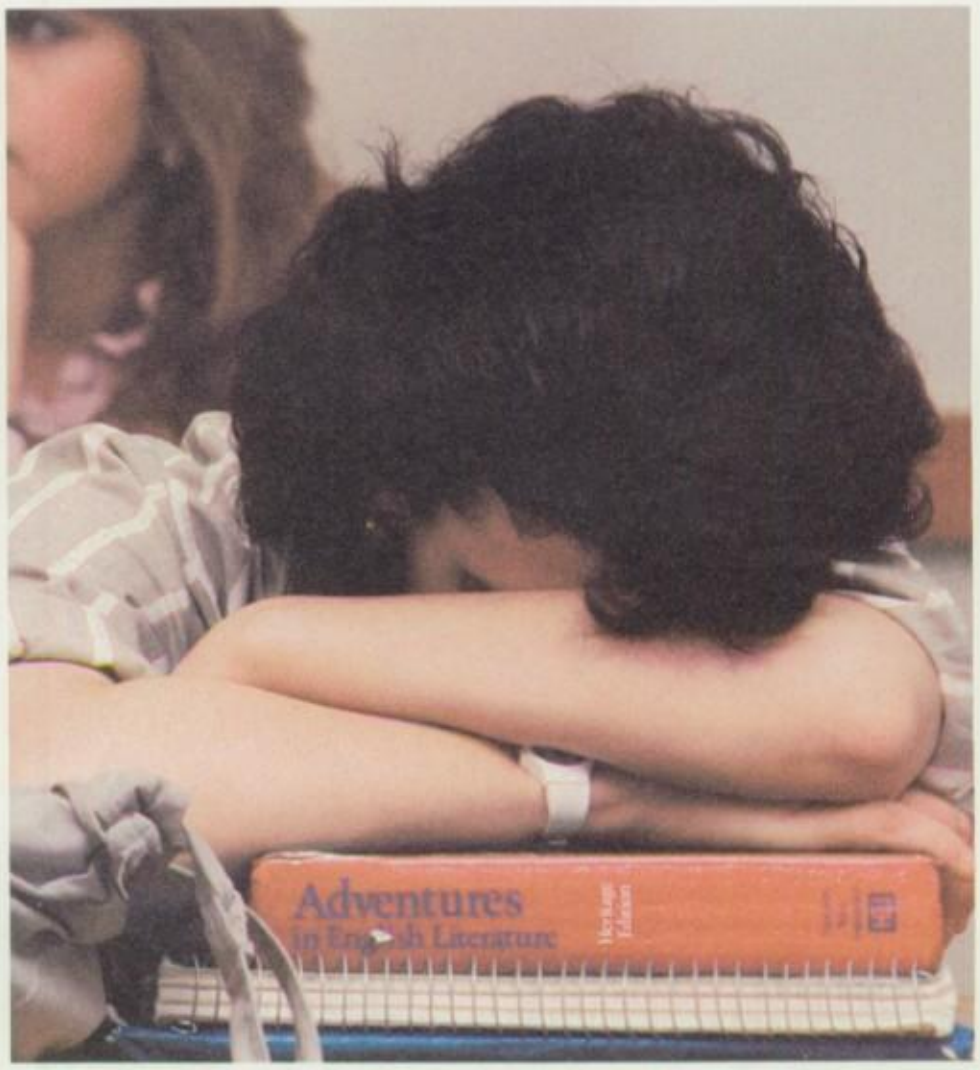
giving it all for . . . .

The Finish Line

As our coaches remind us frequently, the race is ours and ours alone. We may have coaches, trainers, and teammates, but WE have to make the choices required to prepare for the race that will not end at graduation, but only begin there.

For four years we have been assisted in acquiring the skills and competencies needed for our lifelong race; but it has been up to us to train sometimes alone and more often with others to find the most productive tracks our talents can take.

Our curriculum is designed to offer us the opportunity both to challenge and broaden our intellects. Courses in Computer Science, Calculus, Spanish, Art, and Physics are a few of the training tracks we may have chosen to follow.



We may have learned from our teammates who have participated in such enrichment activities as the Advanced Studies Program at St. Paul's School, the Leadership Conferences at the University of Notre Dame, or Boys' State.

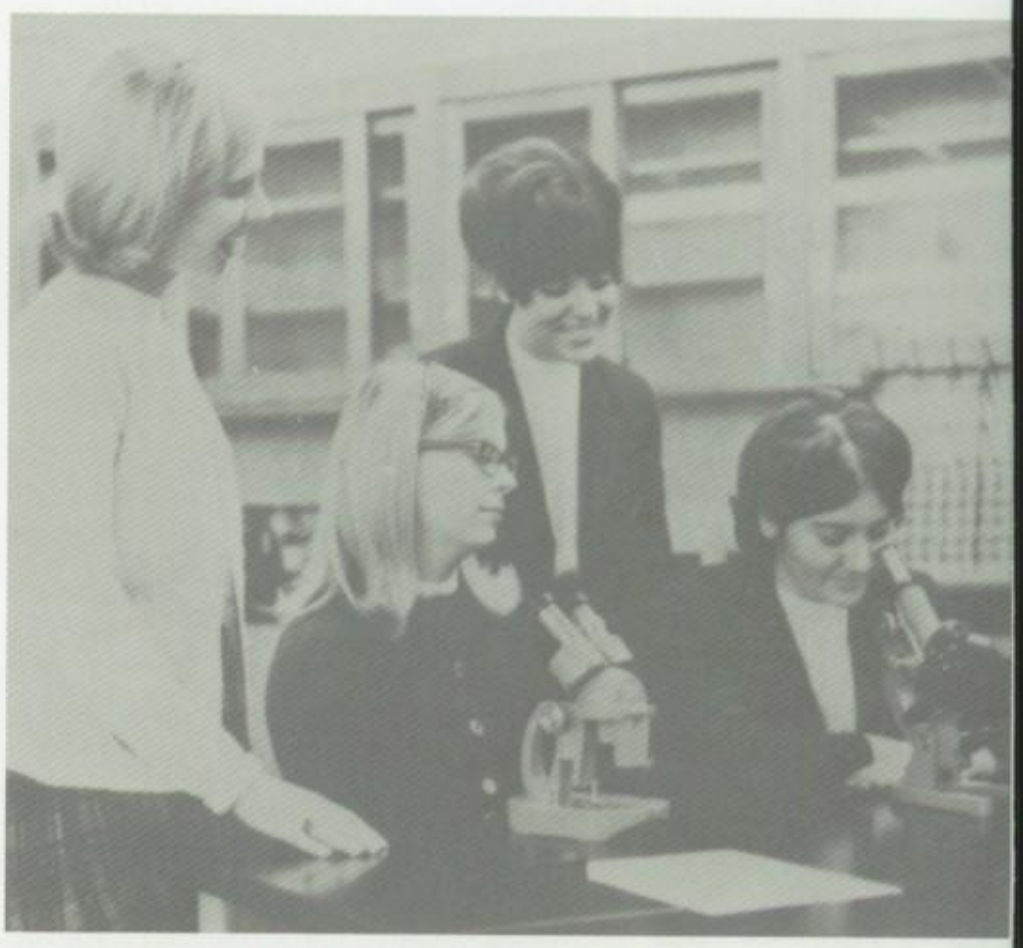
Throughout the years an important lesson has been mastered: effort counts. Through our efforts we have achieved our personal bests and have shown ourselves and others that we are giving it all for the finish line.

training for . . . . . .

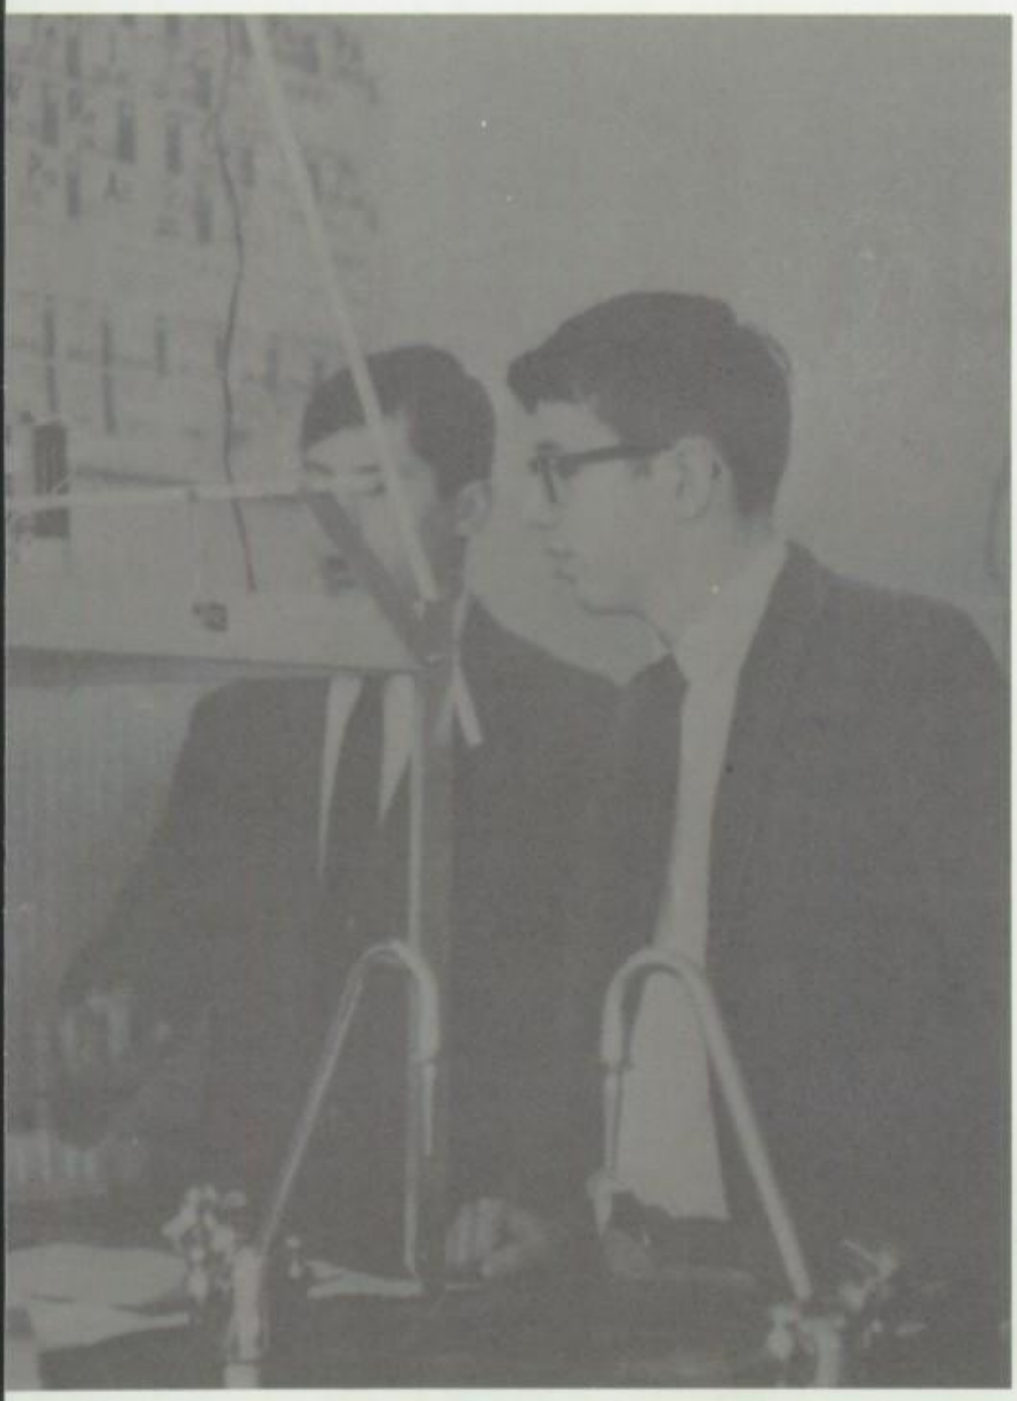
The Finish Line

From the very beginning Bishop Brady High School aspired to excellence. In 1963 shortly after opening its doors an Honors Curriculum was formed under the direction of Mr. Roger DeHayes and was comprised of eighteen, individually chosen junior and senior students. These students were chosen for their ability, character, and academic performance.

This tradition continued and Bishop Brady offered its students many opportunities to strive for academic excellence in the last 25 years. National Honor Society became an important goal for many students and Advanced Study opportunities a highly competitive and much coveted experience. Students were chosen for Model Congress & Model U.N. Lengthy preparations went for weeks before sending students off to state wide competitions in Speech and Debate; and Latin students took nation-wide Latin exams.



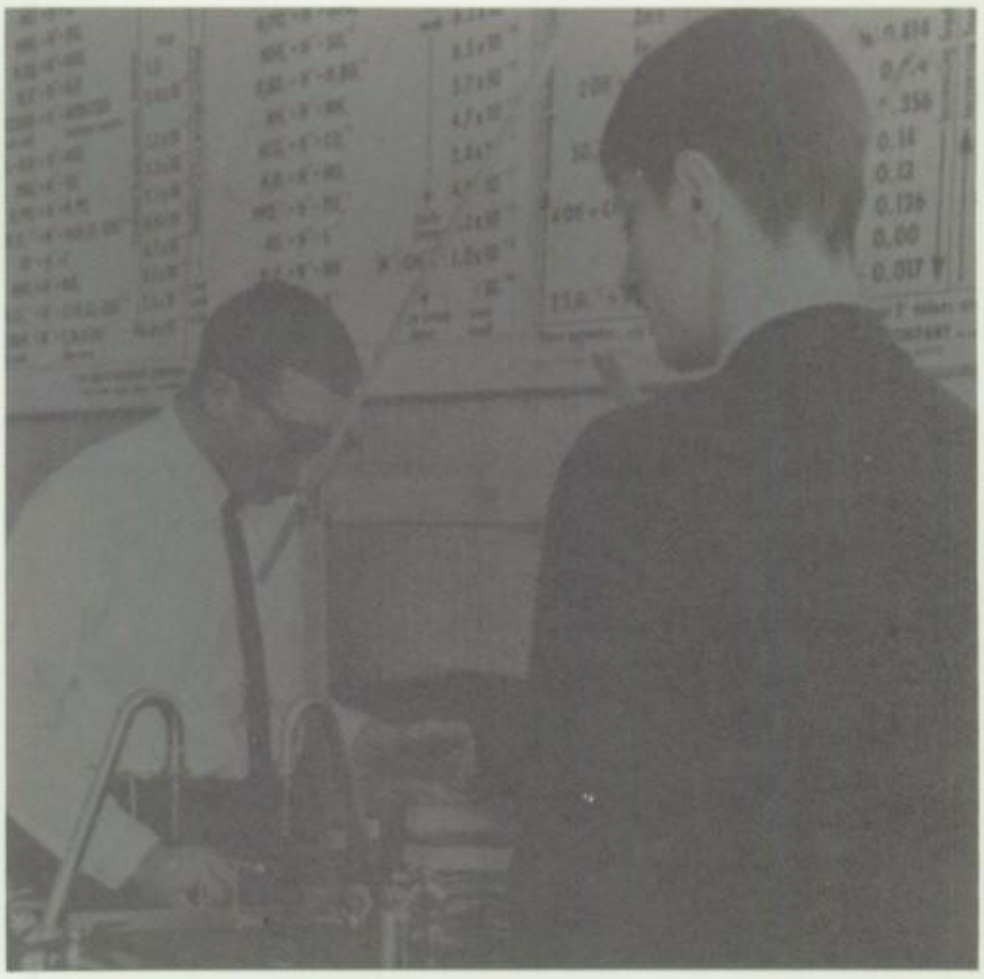
25th Anniversary



From the very beginning the classroom was a workplace and students were expected to do their best. Teachers worked alongside the students always pushing them on toward the finish line.

Hundreds of students have worked in the classrooms of Bishop Brady High School. They studied math and learned to type. They investigated causes for world events and they were encouraged to think of solutions to world problems. Some learned modern languages and some studied the ancient ones; but always they were encouraged to work hard and use their God-given talents. Some found their gifts in music and some found them in math. Once found all were encouraged to share these gifts and make their school a better place.

The lessons learned at Brady were sometimes hard but no one had to run the race alone for someone was always ready to help. The students who spent their four years training for the finish line at Brady now run their races on different tracks with different goals, but they travel in the world prepared to meet the hurdles!!



in shape for . . . .

The Finish Line

Practice, practice and more practice. That's what makes our athletic teams at Brady excel. And that's what makes it exciting to watch the games.

Spectators can watch the Giants run for touchdowns on Friday nights; they can cheer on the field hockey team on Tuesday afternoons; and they can encourage the cross-country runners on Saturday mornings. What is more thrilling than witnessing the tie-breaking goal in hockey or the ninth inning homerun?

Perhaps the only thing more thrilling than watching is participating in the games, matches, and meets. At Brady more than one-half the students participate in at least one sport. We have choices ranging from basketball to tennis to cheerleading. We win games. We bring trophies home. We lose games. We practice longer.

Our coaches have instilled in us such qualities as dedication, teamwork, and good sportsmanship. All these keep us in shape for the finish line.

closing in on . . . .

The Finish Line

Opening in 1963 Bishop Brady High School began its tradition of excellence in sports. Coaches demanded the best from their teams and instilled in them a desire to win through good sportsmanship, team effort and dedication.

Over the years there were games won and games lost but lessons were learned from each. An impressive list of successes speaks of Brady's diligence and skill over the years as hundreds of students closed in on the finish line.

the next to cross . . . . .

The Finish Line

We've made it! We have graduated from Bishop Brady High School. We are special!

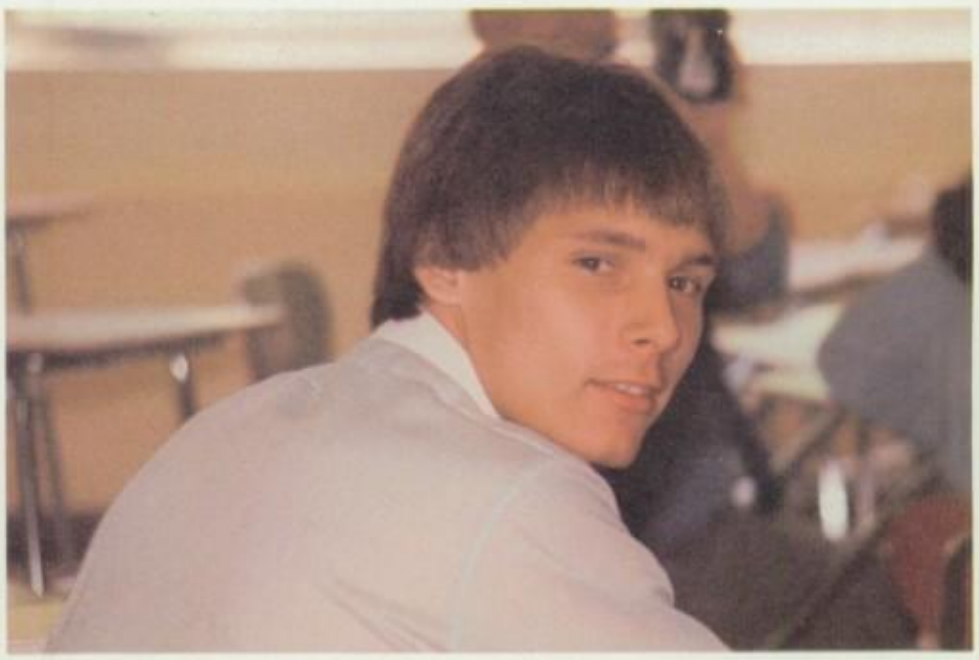
We've successfully jumped those academic hurdles. Not only that but we've formed a team spirit that will remain with us all of our lives.

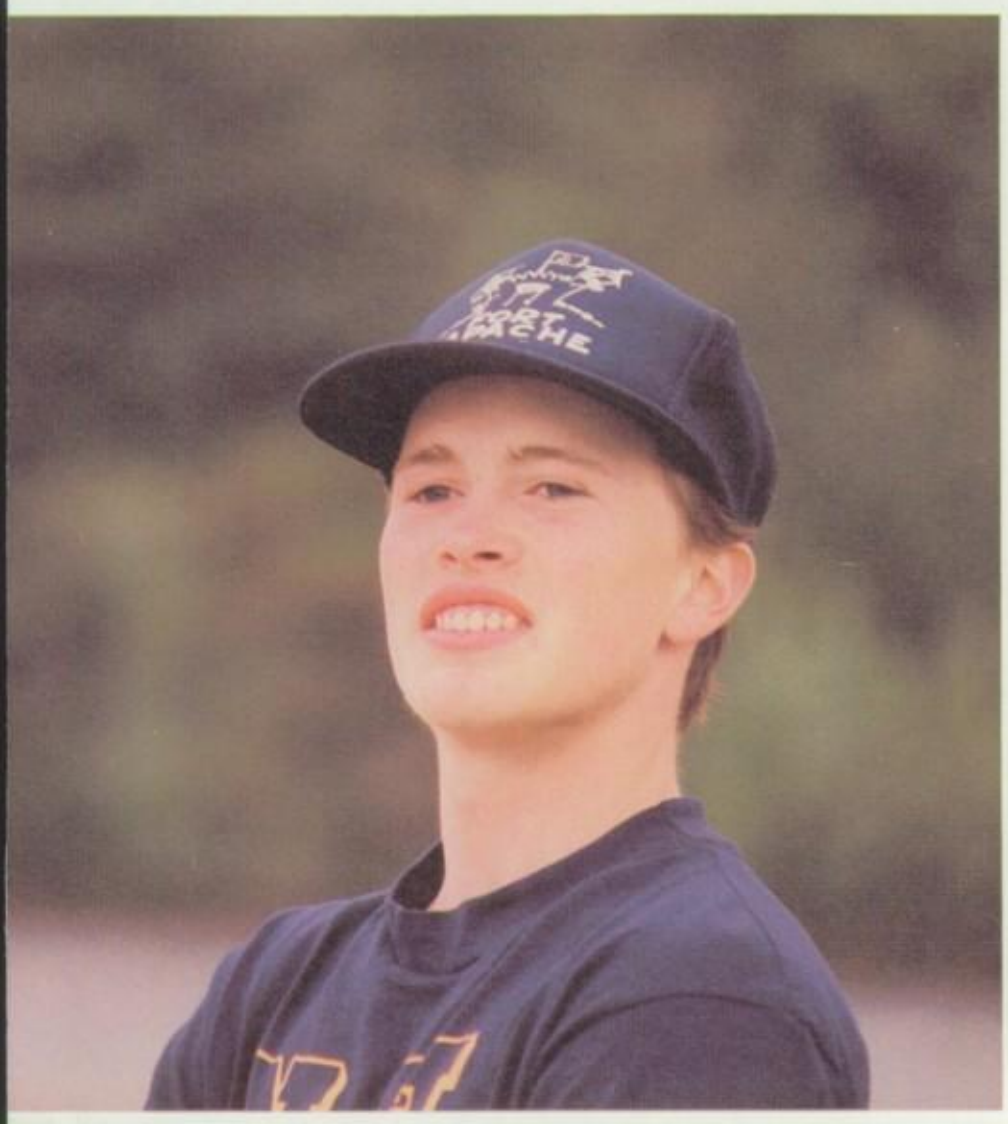
These thoughts have crossed the minds of seniors every June since 1964. We have developed a bond with every person who has walked up those stage steps to receive that hard earned diploma.

But 1988 is different! We are the 25th class to have run and won this race. We have set our own records to be listed in the annals of Brady. It's members of our class who have acted in or worked on Fools, who have won the cracker whistle during Homecoming, and who have published the Brady Chronicle. We will be remembered.

The Class of 1988 has a special request. We would like to be invited back to share in the celebration of the 50th anniversary of Brady in 2013.

Until then we will think of ourselves as the next to cross the finish line.





supporters to . . . . .

The Finish Line

Over the last 25 years many young men and women chose to run their high school race at Bishop Brady. For some it was a race with many obstacles, for others it was smooth, but for others it was a race made easier by many caring people present on the sidelines.

For the student who found her classes difficult there was the teacher ready to give extra help or just listen.

For the club or team that needed an extra boost or some support there were the parents to run the Bingo or sponsor the dance.

There was the chaplain who guided, the coaches who motivated, the businessmen who contributed. So many who just believed in Catholic education were there to help in any way. They sat on School Boards, went door to door for financial support, baked cookies, took clean-up detail, prayed, and volunteered for whatever else had to be done.

It seems only right to take this opportunity to offer a deep and sincere message of gratitude to all the unsung heroes of the last 25 years at Bishop Brady High. It would be an impossible task to name all those parents, teachers, administrators, and friends who helped shape Bishop Brady into the caring community in which we live and learn today.

Let us simply say to one and all who gave of themselves in any way...

THANK YOU.

Thank you for your prayers, your time, your talent, your money, your trust, and your support.

Most Valuable Player

To the Team.

Brother Joe,

For years you have been at Brady as our teacher and our friend. You have made a difference in all our lives and we want to thank you.

You have painted our halls, created a garden for our school, and most importantly, you have helped us see Brady as our home.

Brother Joe, you have helped us all to grow from nervous freshmen to strong seniors by teaching us to love ourselves. Your commitment to Brady is unfaltering. You have never stopped encouraging, complimenting and helping us even when you have been faced with personal tragedy.

That is why we, the Silver Anniversary Class of 1988, with love and admiration dedicate our yearbook to you, Brother Joe. Thank you and God bless you!

EIGHTY Eight

The Finish Line

We started out all ready to go not knowing who we are, or how we're going to grow.
We get a start, ahead of the game getting closer to friends three years remain.
Once or twice we may fall down but always get up with a smile or frown.
We pass the bend, not long now two more years, we ask ourselves "how?"
Tears may fall, smiles may widen the moon goes down, the sun is rising.
Not long now, the end we see time for us to get our life long key.
We can't forget the fun of the race
but think of the good times that we'll face.
So now it's done, there's no more time the Class of '88 crossed The Finish Line.

In the race for the finish line certain seniors distinguish themselves in various ways. From class clown to most athletic, superlatives recognize these seniors for their uniqueness.

The future race for the winners . . .

PARTICIPANTS IN THE 2008 RACE WILL BE:

Randy MacDonald who will excel in the tractor-pull event. Randy's trademark is the musical horn he has on his tractor that plays E-I-E-I-O during the pull.

Pierre Durand who will win his 8th straight National Skateboarding Championship. Judges will be most impressed with his maneuvers in a full body cast. How did that injury occur? Trying to "Rap on the board."

Joe Andrews who will be a guest speaker and presenter of medals.

George Twigg who will be covering the event as a writer for Rolling Stone magazine.

Chris Argue who will perform. He has once again produced a platinum album. His fans report that if you play the record back on low speed it says, "Chris is Dead." The famed artist is currently unavailable for comment.

Matt Nevers who will cater the celebration following the race. He has recently opened the first Ponderosa Steak House on Mainland China. Following menu skills developed at Brady, he will serve all meals with a generous portion of french fries and fried rice.

Chris Collins who will accept a medal, having recently won the Boston Marathon finishing 114 places ahead of Troy Patoine.

Eric Dors who will also accept a medal, having recently won the Paul Maloney Memorial Award for outstanding custodial engineering.

Matt Daly who will be presented with a special award for achievement. After years as a struggling artist, he was finally recognized by critics for his genius and his ability to create vibrant colors in a new art medium--his hair.

Jim McKerley who will win the award for Salesman of the Year for the second in a row for his work with the Fuller Brush Co. His wife will accept the award for him, as he will be in the hospital recovering from injuries incurred when he tried to sell a Brady calendar to a skier.

Ryan Pope who will be the master of ceremonies. He is the assistant coach of Merrimack High School Football Team.

Rick Ames who will provide the entertainment. He will be starring in "Pee Wee's Big Adventures II."

Chris Casko who will be unable to participate because he is in training for the Pro-Bowl.

Colin Goegel who will coach is once again in training for his 15th Boston Marathon.

Jim Hattan and Marilyn Dupuis who will tape the events. They have moved on from their radio show to replace Donahue and Oprah with their dual host talk show "Dupuis and Hattan Speak to America."

SPECTATORS AT THE EVENTS WILL BE:

John Kost who has opened a hunting lodge in Maine with hopes of getting his first deer.

Peter Girard who has recently undergone reconstructive knee surgery on the reconstruction of the reconstruction of the original reconstruction of his knee.

Bill Messer who recently left a $500 trust fund to Brady. The "Snooka Fund" will be awarded to needy students to subsidize dates for semi-formals and proms.

Doug Clay who recently underwent plastic surgery to give him a broken nose, scars, and missing teeth so he really looks like a hockey player.

Gary Bennett who eventually became owner of Rivco and is a part time teacher at the Andover Tractor Trailor School.

Joe Blair who invaded and successfully captured Bermuda. He has proclaimed himself military dictator of it. Joe established his headquarters in a fabulous beach house and has surrounded himself by reknowned beauties, known as Blair's Bimbos.

Len Pickering who is busy repairing old cars that have been used in demolition derbies.

Matt Labbe who became director of the Civil Air Patrol in NH. Matt is well known for being the first director to get lost while searching for lost people.

Dave Batchelder who recently returned to Brady to take over the retired Ed McMonagle's Chemistry classes.

Ken Gagne who finally gained 50 lbs. and is managing a fleet of Mercedes.

Steve Gelinas who in 1999 became the Guidance Counselor at Bishop Brady.

Dan Guimond who became Juliane's personal agent and who will worship her for the rest of his life.

Sean Hardy who graduated from a famous N.Y. culinary arts school and came back to Brady to cook cheeseburgers.

Steve Soucy who got a job with Fisher Price recording animal sounds for See and Speak.

Bryan Underhill who became a carpenter and now designs dog houses.

Tony Walchak who moved out to Winsconsin for good and became a dairy farmer.

UNABLE TO BE LOCATED WILL BE:

Dr. Christian Jackson who has completely and mysteriously disappeared! His close friend Matthew Labbee reported that Jackson had become a recluse these last two years, abandoning his wife, Ava Weldon, and 10 children and completely devoting himself to his teleportion research.

UNABLE TO ATTEND WILL BE:

Prophecy

Seth Shurtleff who will be unavailable because he will be home watching wrestling.

THE GIRLS EVENTS WILL BE REPRESENTED BY:

Sarah Duclos, who, after reaching the pinnacle of success with her equestrian talents and exhausting her love of fast cars and worldwide travel will concentrate on her real obsession - hurdling. She has secured gold medals at the 1991 World Championships and the 1992 Olympic Games in the 100 meter hurdles.

Danielle Seely who is a world reknowned bicycle rider who is late for the start of every race.

Liz Hamp who became the first woman to play NBA Basketball.

Phyllis Roberge who became the first woman to play goalie on an U.S. hockey team.

Sharon Maxfield, who, after losing in the Renee Rheaume who will work behind the scenes. She grooms horses while working on a degree in veterinary medicine. She also works full-time to support her husband.

Katie Doherty who will cover both the official events and the unoffical gossip for the National Enquirer.

April McCall who will be a speaker. She shed her image of being shy by becoming an ambassador for the U.S.

Allison King who will lead the team in prayer. She became Mother General of the Ursulene Order in Quebec and is famous for reinstating the vow of silence for the order.

CELEBRATEES WHO WILL ATTEND TO CHEER ON THE GIRLS ARE:

Missy Harbour, who after numerous career successes, is pursuing her favorite subject and recently earned a Ph.D. in colleagues named it in her honor - clancyphobia. It all began in her high school years when she loved math but hated the numbers, loved basketball but hated to dribble the ball; and, most astonishingly, loved cross-country but hated running.

Sharon Taylor who is Director of the Anonymous Complaints Department of the Boston Better Business Bureau.

Keiron Shepard who still carries a picture of Skip Swiezynski while awaiting for the right athlete to come along.

Sue Hollatz who returned to Germany, got married, had 10 children, and sent them all to Bishop Brady.

Stacey Bambrick who ran away in 1991 to Boston and eloped with Mr. Michael Jordan.

Kara Brophy who is starring in Dirty Dancing II with Patrick Swazey.

Tracey Cloutier who still attends BBHS. She had to make up every day she was out of dress code.

Juliane Fauteux who lost her Miss America crown after admitting to an addiction to Diet Pepsi.

Kathy Gordon who invented a new horizontal parking space for rich people with expensive cars.

Laurianne Hewitt who is happily married to Butch McCarthy. Together they became marriage counselors.

Sandy Keros who discovered what it is like to be in a bad mood after failing her 5th driving test.

Karen Leslie who became a negotiator for the Soviet/U.S. relations.

Erika Warner who became a veterinarian and is working at Sea World caring for Shamu.

Kim O'Connell who moved to Washington, DC, after becoming the first woman president.

Lori Demers who became famous for developing remote control high heel shoes.

Ava Weldon who opened a Madonna-Wanna-Be-Fashion Boutique to support her 10 children.

equestrian events in 1996 became owner of the largest horse farm in N.E. and was instrumental in establishing Concord's first race track, right on the Bishop Brady field; horse racing has replaced calendars as Brady's major fund raiser.

Denise Gamble who will be the big medal winner. She achieved great fame by starring in the demolition derby at Hopkinton Fair.

Meredith Hudson who will be present in an official capacity. She will be a NH State Inspector to enforce the no-smoking-in-public-places law.

Michelle Muse who will counsel the losers. She is an eminent psychologist specmathematics from M.I.T.

Renee Hebert, author. In high school she was never able to take geometry as often as she liked; nevertheless, she has authored a most successful geometry textbook and dedicated it to her high school geometry teacher.

Christina Heirtzler who has persuaded the Navy to let her take her horse from Navy base to base.

Candy Griswold and Susan Whittemore who gave up their business careers when they signed contracts to take over the Dear Abby and Ann Lander's columns.

Laurie Clancy, who after years of research, using primarily herself as a subject, identified a new illness. Her medical

One more step to the Finish Line

Almost to the finish line! As the seniors prepare to pass the torch to them the juniors kept themselves busy all year long. Some wanted to attend St.Paul's A.S.P., others wanted to go to the prom; but everyone wanted to beat the seniors at Homecoming and dreams do come true! Now the juniors are ready to gear up for college interviews, yearbook organization and final fund raisers. As the seniors cross the finish line, we proudly pass the torch to the Class of '89.

One foot over the Starting line

The sophomore class took an easy walk through their second year after the hectic pace of freshmen year. The Class of '90 enjoyed watching the new freshmen go through initiation remembering their day last year. Homecoming was fun and going to the semi-formal gave them a great night to dress up. The sophomore class is now limbering up to start the next leg of the race as juniors.

At the Starting line

This year's freshmen class is a unique one. They are the smallest freshmen class ever to start their race at Brady. When the gun went off they raced to learn their locker combinations, their teacher's names and their daily class schedule. Their pace sped up for initiation and Homecoming and winning hall decorating never felt so good! Now the freshmen are ready to run the next leg of the race as sophomores.

General Managers Support the Team

This year has brought a few new faces to Brady's staff, including Miss Diane Doria, Director of Development; Mrs. Theresa Odell, Alumni Coordinator; and Mrs. Judith Frankel, Librarian.

Many veteran members of the administration and staff remain with us, most notably Vice Principal, Kirk Spofford; Guidance Counselor, David Doherty; and Secretary, Linda Duclos; all of whom have been at Brady longer than most of us can remember.

In his second successful year at Brady, Principal Michael Morgan continues to organize the race and to get winning reviews from students and faculty. "He's very accessible", says Senior Chris Argue, "He seems to be very open to new ideas."

With many innovations anticipated in the coming years, Brady looks forward to strong leadership from Mr. Morgan and the rest of the administration.

Three cheers for the coaches

C-O-A-C-H, Yea' Coach

Where would a team be without a coach? Probably the same place the students of Bishop Brady would be without their teachers. In reality, the members of the faculty here at Brady are our coaches. They guide us during our race throughout high school, pushing us - some more forcefully than others - to achieve our full potential and to strive for excellence, not only in our academic growth, but also in our moral and spritual development.

The race that begins each September is successful primarily because our teachers are so involved with the students. Not only do the students benefit from small classes, but both the teachers and students are given the chance to work closely with each other, as well as the opportunity to get to know one another as people.

At Brady most teachers' days do not end at the dismissal bell. They move from their classrooms to the athletic fields, the stage, and club meetings. It is this caring desire to make our school a Catholic institution based in a family atmosphere, that makes our teachers extraordinary. They are not only our teachers, coaches, and advisors, they are our friends.

FIELD HOCKEY

Varsity Team

Makes Play-offs

When asked if the field hockey team would make it to the playoffs, Keiron Shepherd replied, "We were confident." A healthy team and a strong group of returning seniors gave them the right to look forward to big things.

The team had a good season all-around. Wins were chalked up against Gorham, Thayer, and Mascenic, to name a few. But the competition was tough. It wasn't until the last game was over that the field hockey team knew they had a playoff spot.

FINAL RECORD

After taking a practice drive up to Littleton during a heavy rainstorm, the team returned there the next day, confident of victory. The team came up short in the end, but all were satisfied with a good season and are looking forward to another strong strong season next year.

Cross Country

Small Team

Has Big Year

The 1987 cross country team was small in numbers but large in talent. It was a diverse group: veterans and novices, seniors and sophmores, year-round runners and those conditioning for basketball and hockey. All contributed to the best team performance in many years, which included an 8-2 dual meet record, 3rd place finishes at the Kingswood and Hollis Invitationals and a 6th place finish at the state class meet.

At the end of each season we look ahead to the following year and hope to surpass our most recent accomplishments. When we assemble in the fall of 1988 our five seniors - Chris, Laurie, Eric, Colin and Glenn - will not be present and Martin will have returned to his home in Germany. We will miss you. A special note of appreciation to Eric Dors and Colin Goegel for four years of dedication and committment.

Plague of Injuries

With many starting seniors sidelined for the season with injuries, adaptability of the surviving few was the key to success for this year's football team. The passing game was the hardest-hit part of the squad, as they lost veteran Steve Gelinas as well as promising first-year senior Chris Argue.

But despite these and several other injuries, the team had a good season. Consistently excellent play was shown all year by the entire team, with a lot of inexperienced players getting additional game time in because of the injured starters. Seniors Seth Shurtleff, Jim Hattan, and Ryan Pope as well as juniors Jim Grendell and Mike Bourque had especially good seasons.

Despite the injuries, the football team had a strong season. Wins against St. Thomas, Monadanock, and Kingswood to name a few gave the team a well-rounded season. But tough losses to Kennett, Franklin, and Plymouth kept the team out of the playoffs this year. Despite that disappointment, Coach Mike Blake remains optimistic: "This year was frustrating because of the injuries. But it allowed a lot of inexperienced underclassmen to get extra playing time. With such a seasoned group next year, I'd say the outlook is positive for at least getting into the playoffs, and maybe going all the way!"

Young Team

Aims High

This has been a building year for girl's basketball at Brady.

The team was young, and the players had to get adjusted to a new coach. But despite these challenges, they had a good year, under the leadership of co-captains Laurie Clancy and Liz Hamp. Strong seasons were also shown by sophomores Liz Langlais and Kristi Seely, both of whom show great promise for the years to come. But sometimes promise wasn't enough. "It was an up and down season," said senior Liz Hamp. "But there are a lot of talented younger players, and I think next years team will do really well."

With Better Year

After last year, Brady basketball could only look for better things this season. And despite losing senior starter Ryan Pope for much of the season, the team had a much better record this year, led by seniors Dan Guimond, Seth Shurtleff, and junior John Zachodny. "This was a much better season for us," said co-captain Seth Shurtleff. "The team was a lot tighter, and I think we all played together well." And with few starters graduating this year, the team is looking for even more improvement next season.

Banner Year

For Brady Skaters

Hockey at Bishop Brady seems to be surpassing even football as Brady's most exciting sport; the sudden death overtime win against arch-rival Concord High was one of the many highlights of the season, as was the team's winning the big game against Concord High. The Bishop Brady hockey team moved into the quarter finals of tournament action for the first time in seven years. The talented group of Brady players has earned the respect of many other schools this year, and has become one of the rising powers in the league.

The year to come promises to be at least as successful, with many of the juniors and sophomores who were very strong this season returning for 1988-1989.

SKI TEAM

Uphill Battle

For Brady Skiers

The second year of the Brady ski team has seen increased participation from underclassmen, but problems with the veteran skiers on the team resulted in a record which was really unrepresentative of the talent which the team possesses. Sophomore Mark Nelson, one of the top skiers on the team, agrees. "This year could have been a lot better for us; we have a lot of good skiers, and a lot of freshman talent. But I think that with some hard work, next year we can post a record which reflects the potential that we have."

Cheering Us
On To Victory

The football cheerleaders could be seen leading cheers at all the games this past year. At pep rallies they encourage school spirit and involvement in preparation for the games. New dance cheers were developed to the tunes of, "Sunglasses at Night" and "Playing with the Boys." The cheerleaders enthusiasm helped the football team to its victories, including a win against rival St. Thomas. In addition, their team spirit helped them raise enough money to buy their own team jackets. Mrs. Pat Andrews and Mrs. Kathy Gelinas stepped in to coach the young squad this past year. The sqaud consisted of seven underclassmen and only two seniors.

We know the cheerleaders will continue to support the football team as they race on to more victories in the future.

Valet Day

One of the more reassuring things about the race we run is that we run it together. We are a team and it is important that we all feel like we are a part of that team. The team is formed at the beginning of each year through special events, like Valet Day. There is no better way to feel comfortable with others than to laugh with them.

The captains of the race, our seniors, carry on the tradition of Valet Day to make the freshmen feel accepted onto the team. The seniors are allowed to buy freshmen as their slaves, dress them in the latest fashions of humility and the rest...but take a look for yourself, don't they look like they're having fun?!

Huddled together for safety, the Freshmen dressed appropriately for their initiation.

Homecoming

For the present runners in the race, Homecoming is a time to wind down from the academic race and to compete among ourselves in the off-track events devised by our Student Council. For the past runners, it is a time for them to return to the race they once ran, because the true meaning of Homecoming is that the alumni are coming back to encourage the current racers.

Homecoming

As with Valet Day, Homecoming is a great way to make the new members of the team feel welcome. Some of the events they compete are in arm wrestling, fill the bottle, and musical chairs. Along with the events, students compete by participating in the dressdown theme days given for each day of the week; the most popular days were tie dye and pj day.

Christmas Spirit

Students at Brady enjoyed their own Christmas festivities as well as helping others enjoy theirs. The Student Council sponsored a Christmas assembly on December 18, to send the students home on a happy note. The students sang carols while awaiting the arrival of Santa Claus. When Santa strolled in he threw candy to the crowd and brought presents for good students and teachers. Three students and three faculty members were chosen to sit on Santa's lap. After the departure of Santa, "Kathy the Killer Kenney" was sung in tribute to Miss Kenney, followed by "Grandma Got Run Over By A Reindeer" and "The Twelve Days Of Christmas."

The students also shared the Christmas Spirit with the community. They contributed to the sixteen baskets of food and presents that were put together under the direction of Mrs. Odell. In addition, the Student Council and the Sophmore class adopted families from the Concord area. The students shopped for gifts, wrapped them, and delivered them to the families.

Winter Carnival

Traditionally, Winter Carnival takes place during the week prior to Febuary vacation. For each day of the week there is a costume or dress down theme. On chosen days there are events such as volleyball, snow sculpture, and Mardigras.

One of the most popular events of last year returned- the Brady version of the Newlywed Game. As a break from academics the Student Council planned an afternoon of movie viewing. Winter Carnival successfully revived school and class spirit.

Semi Formal

This year's Semi took place on March 19 instead of following Winter Carnival week. Due to Bingo's use of the gymnasium, the dance was held at the Ramada Inn, courtesy of the Bingo funds. The theme of the dance was "The Power of Love" by Laura Branigan.

Senior Service

One of the best examples of Brady's philosophy is the Senior Service program. The program is tied in with the Theology department; and , as a requirement for graduation, all seniors must complete 30 hours of volunteer service in the Concord community. Students have donated services at various area organizations, such as Concord Adult Day Care and NH Task Force on Child Abuse. The Senior Service program is a way of allowing students at Brady to help others cross the finish line.

Practice makes perfect
For Brady Theatre

Theatre

FOOLS written by Neil Simon started Theatre Workshop off on the right track. Greg Stuart had a chance to coach as director and Donna Bacon managed the team as producer.

The underclassmen joined the race on stage and behind the scenes, including freshmen Anne Ngara as Mrs. Zubritsky, sophomores Tom Smith and Nathan Irving as Snetsky and the Magistrate, and junior Shane Hopkins as Leon. The seniors who are rounding the bend for their last race are, Rick Ames, Ava Weldon, Kathy Gordon, Ken Gagne, Katie Doherty and Shawn Smith.

Bishop Brady's tradition of excellence in theatre will continue again this spring with the competition play in April. This production will be the seniors' last race and although they are sad to be moving on, they know Bishop Brady Theatre will continue the race and always be winners.

Retreats

Retreats are a time for the runners of the race to sit down, relax and get to know the other members of the team. The Day of Recollection Team is made up of 66 juniors and seniors who want to share their experiences with the rest of the teams. The coach of this team, Father Mitch, plans the retreats, which are held at Camp Fatima in Gilmanton, or St. Peter's Church in Concord. The object of the retreats is to get to know and understand yourself and the others on your team.

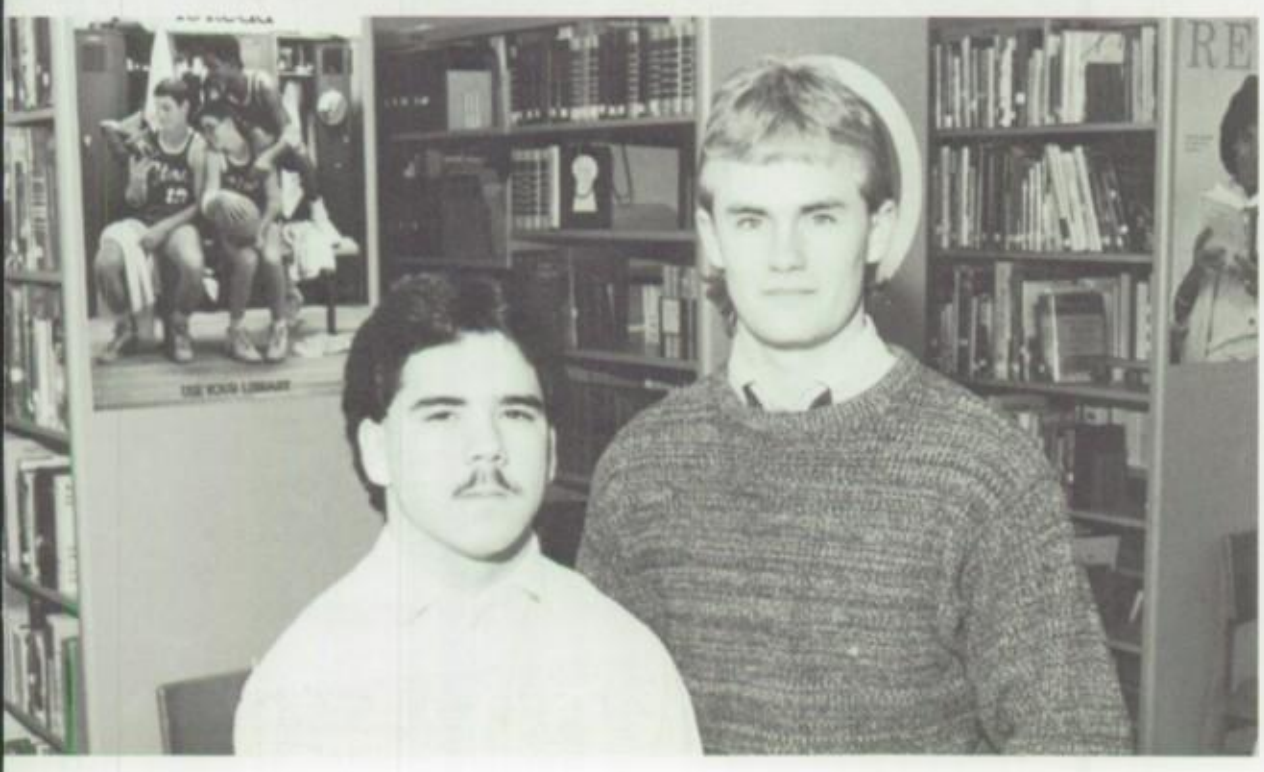
Natonal Honor Society

The National Honor Society, advised by Mrs. Louise Parenteau, is a selective service association which seeks to honor students who have distinguished themselves through academics, service to the community, and character. The Society sponsors many events, such as the annual Red Cross Blood Drive, and this year's first ever Grand Day. "The main purpose of N.H.S.," says member Liz Hamp, "Is not as much to honor the people in it, but to bring them together to help others."

Grandparents enjoy high school again during the N.H.S. sponsored Grand Day in November.



Special Honors

Several students from Brady got special help in crossing the finish line this year. Among these, five Brady students attended the rigorous six-week Advanced Studies Program at St. Paul's School. The students attending were Juliane Fauteux, Sharon Maxfield, Ava Weldon, Matt Labbe and Colin Goegel. Two students represented Brady at New Hampshire's Boys' State, they were Joe Blair and Chris Argue. Nine students attended the ISLI conference at Notre Dame University. The International Student Leadership Institute participants were, seniors Katie Doherty, Phyllis Roberge, Matt Daly, Glen Camley, and Rick Ames, juniors Steve Burke and Ali Jurta, and sophomores Liz Langlais and Kristi Seely. Mr. Michael Morgan chaperoned the trip and was accompanied by Brother Roger Lamoyne.

Student programs that Help in the Running

Peer Counseling

Peer counseling consists of a group of students organized by Father Mitch Wanat to provide a student advisor or just a friend to listen to for fellow students at Brady having personal, social, or academic difficulties. Teamwork, helping others to find their way, is considered by all to be an important part of Brady's continuing Christian tradition of being a caring community.

SADD

A new organization has joined the race at Brady this year. Students Against Drunk Driving (SAAD) was started by senior Michelle Muse. Several successful fundraisers have helped the Brady SADD chapter to raise money, and it is hoped that by increasing student awareness of the dangers of drunk driving, and providing rides for students who should not be driving, Brady can avoid having any alcohol-related fatalities.

Bottom: Rick Ames, Colin Goegel, Eric Dors, Stedman Holton, Martin Hennseler.

Student Government

Student Government at Brady forms the bridge between faculty and students. Made up of Student Council and the class officers, one of their main jobs is to bring problems and ideas of the students to the administration. The class officers run fundraisers and organize class activities, while Student Council puts on events for the entire school, such as Homecoming Week and Winter Carnival. The Student Government helps all the members of the Brady community to become active in creating a better school environment.

Band and Chorus

The band and chorus groups are being taught again this year by Mrs. Mary Smith. Though small in number, the groups always manage to present a major production for the school, and this year was no exception. Their Grand Day concert and singalong was a great success, and the concert performed during Catholic Schools Week was one of their most memorable.

A Fine Finish Yearbook Staff

In March 1987, the yearbook staff began working on this book. We thought of and discarded many different themes and finally decided on, The Finish Line. The ten of us believed that our years at Brady have been like a race to run and we hoped everyone else could relate to this theme, too.

For some, you will remember the football game won in the rain or the feeling of being on the stage and hearing the applause. Others may remember the academic achievements, like your first A or being on the honor roll.

These are some of the races we have run at Brady and there are many more to be run after this but we devote this book not only to the race we ran from 1984-1988 but also to the school's first 25. We consider ourselves special because we were able to incorporate our theme in the Silver Anniversary edition of the yearbook.

I am very proud to have been editor of this book but it couldn't have been done without ten very special people: Mrs. Walsh-our Advisor, George Twigg-Copy Editor, Renee Rheaume-Layout Editor, Colin Goegel-Sports Editor, Pierre Durand-Photography Editor, Erika Warner and Keiron Shepherd-Senior Section, Candy Griswold-Ad Section, Liz Hamp-Faculty Section, Kim O'Connell-Student Life Section.

To you ten I say, Congratulations! We did it! To our class we all say, goodbye; to the underclassmen, good luck! To all who have helped us with the book, Thank You! We couldn't have finished without all your help. Special thanks to Kyle Mangawang for his work designing our cover, Miss Kenney for proofreading all our copy, Mrs. Odell for helping write the copy for the anniversary section of the yearbook and Mr. and Mrs. Goegel for their help in developing pictures.

Happy 25th Brady! Katie

Thank you dear friends
For the many good times
They will be forever
In all of our minds.
We've made this book
For us to keep
To remember the times
That we've shared so deep.
So now it's all done
We wish for more time.
Remember the fun
And keep it in mind.
We say goodbye for now
Until another place
That we all will come together
To start another race.

Keiron
